The Art of India

Dear Sir/Madam,

Greetings from MASTER ART COMPETITION!

It is our pleasure to inform you that we are organizing the National Level Art Contest – “Master Art Competition 2025-26.” We have been successfully conducting this competition for the past seven years, with the aim of promoting and nurturing sincere art culture across India.

This year, we are delighted to introduce a Premium Edition of the competition, adding even greater value and opportunities for participating students.

Our objective goes beyond recognizing the best talents—we strive to inspire and motivate every child to participate, express their creativity, and showcase their hidden potential. The competition not only fosters artistic growth but also offers an enjoyable and enriching experience for all students.

We believe that the participation of each student is vital, as they are the true strength of our competition. Through this platform, we seek to uncover hidden talents from across Pan India and provide them with the recognition they deserve.

We assure you of maintaining the highest standards in the organization of this event, offering both quality and value. We look forward to building a lasting and friendly association with your esteemed institution.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

A Million Little Diamonds

A million little diamonds
Twinkled on the trees;
And all the little children cried,
"A jewel, if you please!"
But while they held their hands
outstretched
To catch the diamonds gay,
A million little sunbeams came
And stole them all away.

Struggles develop strength

One day a man was passing by a garden when he saw a butterfly cocoon which was about to get open.

He saw a small opening on it and watched the several hours of struggles the butterfly came through to get the body out of it. After many hours, it seemed that the butterfly stopped trying as there was no progress.

He thought to help the butterfly by cutting the cocoon with a scissor. So the butterfly came out easily but the wings were shriveled and the body was tiny and withered.

Unfortunately, the butterfly was not able to take flight and spend the rest of life crawling with a wounded body.

Moral: This is nature's way of telling the importance of struggles in life. Sometimes, different kinds of struggles are needed in life to make you stronger in the future. Never feel disappointed in life and stop trying when life offers you struggles but keep on fighting until you see success.
